The latest scoop

Adventurers, campers, backpackers, and backyard cooks alike recognize the value of utility and durability. And that's what they'll find in a new lightweight extendable spoon created by Primus. Crafted in durable Eastman Tritan™ copolyester, this handy utensil features an extendable handle, which can be very practical if you have to dig into a deep bag of freeze-dried food or stir up a big pot of soup. The heat resistance of Tritan also makes it dishwasher safe, so you can get back to the important things in life. Whether venturing to the Patagonian wilderness or to the patio, Tritan's trademark toughness makes this spoon worthy of the trip.

For more information on Eastman Tritan™ copolyester, visit www.eastman.com/tritan.

Weighing in at a mere 0.07 ounces, this extendable spoon, crafted from tough Tritan, is a backpacker's friend.
